

Maid of Honor Duties

The duties of a Maid of Honor are varied. She is to be a trusted friend and confident.

- She is to assist the bride in planning the wedding.
- She should be willing to pitch in wherever needed.
- She is to stay with the bride at all times during the day of the wedding to keep the bride calm and assist with whatever help the bride needs.
- She helps the bride get ready.
- She helps to arrange the bride's dress, veil and train. However, once the bride gets to the altar; she should not be fussed over, as it is distracting.
- She carries the groom's ring for the bride
- She holds the bride's bouquet during the ceremony
- After the ceremony, she stands in the receiving line
- She signs the marriage certificate as a witness
- She may offer a toast at the reception if she wishes
- She is responsible to host a shower for the bride
- The maid of Honor should bring a few things with her to the wedding---a "wedding day emergency kit" if you will. She can include such items as hairspray, a curling iron, nail glue, make-up kit, tampons, a small sewing kit, etc.
